The time period for reply, if any, is set in the attached communication.

Office Action Summary	Application No. 10/578,662	Applicant(s) BURNS, ALAN ROBERT
	Examiner Justin R. Fischer	Art Unit 1791

-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 2, 4, 5, 8, and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Okada (JP 60-18407). As best depicted in Figure 2, Okada teaches a tire including a radially inner portion, wherein said radially inner portion comprises a band 4 (via adhesive 3). It is noted that the claims as currently drafted are directed to a tire article and limitations pertaining to the wheel rim (and any attachment to said rim) do not further define the structure of the claimed tire.

As to claims 4, 5, 8, and 9, the tire of Okada includes a cushioning structure comprised of an inner layer 5 of high resilience and an outer layer 6 having a larger hardness.

3. Claims 1-5 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hoshino (JP 8-58307). As best depicted in Figure 1, Hoshino teaches a tire including a radially inner portion, wherein said radially inner portion comprises a metallic band 2. It is noted that the claims as currently drafted are directed to a tire article and limitations pertaining to the wheel rim (any attachment to said rim) do not further define the structure of the claimed tire.

As to claims 4, 5, and 7, the tire of Hoshino includes a cushioning structure 3.

4. Claims 1, 2, 4-7, and 10-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Katoh (GB 2390064). As best depicted in Figures 1, 6, and 8, Katoh teaches a tire construction including a cushioning structure 1 and a band 2. It is noted that the claims as currently drafted are directed to a tire article and limitations pertaining to the wheel rim (and any attachment to said rim) do not further define the structure of the claimed tire.

Regarding claim 6, cushion structure 1 includes a plurality of cavities or holes 7.

As to claims 10, 12, 13, and 15, rim portions 10 represent the claimed "arcuate portions defining the outer periphery of the wheel rim" (Figure 8). Also, the limitation requiring welding relates to the method in which the band and the wheel rim are attached and such a limitation does not further define the structure of the claimed assembly (rim and tire). It is emphasized that the disclosed method/technique has not been shown to form a materially different article.

With respect to claims 11 and 14, band 2 can include reinforcing elements 8 in the form of wire members, wire rods, or steel-made plate members (Paragraph 20). It is emphasized that the claims as currently drafted do not define the band as consisting solely of metal. Additionally, such steel-made plate members can be viewed individually as defining the claimed band.
